

For the first time ever, Massey University Theatre Society (MUTS) held BITSA, a two-part initiative which involved script writing (semester 2, 2013) followed by a double bill performance

(19th-21st March 2014). The aim of the project was to provide an environment for students to explore the creative process and improve social culture on Albany Campus. After a whirlwind of rehearsals which amounted to only 20 hours in two months, the production team surprised themselves and their audiences with what has been described as "a captivating" performance. We decided that we wanted to make it as easy as possible for students to come so choose a koha instead of selling tickets.

This proved to be a great choice as we ended up with a total audience of over 100 people. It's safe to say

BITSA was a success

and we looked forward to round 2!
